Mission. Founded in 1961, the Council for Community and Economic Research (C2ER) is a membership organization that promotes excellence in community and economic research by working to improve data availability, enhance data quality, and foster learning about regional economic analytic methods. C2ER accomplishes this mission by:

- Conducting training, advocacy, and research
- Delivering innovative products and services for researchers
- Developing professional networks

Members. C2ER's 700 members span a broad range of specialty skills and collectively touch all aspects of state and local community and economic development in the U.S. They include research professionals from:

- Chambers of Commerce
- Economic Development Org.
- Government Agencies
- Universities
- Utility Companies
- Workforce Development Boards
- Community Development Org.
- Consultants & Data Providers

Products & Services. The Council for Community and Economic Research (C2ER) produces several proprietary products and provides a variety of services to members and non-members.

Cost of Living Index: The quarterly Cost of Living Index compares cost of living differences between urban areas weighted by different categories of consumer expenditures for mid-management households.

State Business Incentives Database: The State Business Incentives Database is a searchable database of incentive programs used by states for strategic business attraction. It includes more than 1,900 incentive programs organized according to program category, program type, geographic focus, and business need.

State Economic Development Expenditures Database: Collected by aggregating state budget data, the Expenditures Database assesses total resources available for economic development activity across more than 15 functional areas and multiple funding sources using consistent funding categorizations.

Training / Webinars: In cooperation with the LMI Institute, C2ER offers a comprehensive training program for economic development and labor market information analysts and develops and delivers customized training.

Certification: C2ER's primary professional certification, Certified Community Researcher (CCR), is the industry standard for recognizing excellence in community and economic research. CCRs undertake a rigorous course of training and evaluation to earn this distinction.

Weekly Update: The C2ER/LMI Institute Weekly Update is an informational "one-stop" for economic development and labor market researchers.

Annual Conference: The C2ER Annual Conference is the primary national conference for economic development, and is held in conjunction with the LMI Annual Forum.

Technical Assistance: C2ER aids federal and state agencies by conducting surveys, providing facilitation, and implementing one-on-one skill development in using statistics in data-driven decision-making.
